

NO MAIL TO
BE DELIVEREDMail Carriers Will Have a Holiday on Thanksgiving.

Following the custom now in vogue in many of the large cities of the country, it is likely that the post-office employees in Portsmouth and other cities will have a holiday Thanksgiving, and the deliveries of mail will be omitted.

Whether the deliveries on holidays should be made or omitted is left optional with the postmasters by the postoffice department, the postmasters being familiar with the sentiment in their particular community.

In many of the large cities of the West, the delivery services on the holidays of July fourth and Thanksgiving day have been omitted for many years past. It is probable that the delivery in New England, will be omitted on the latter holiday that the letter carriers and clerks may have an opportunity of spending the entire day with their families.

THE WEATHER

MAYOR BADGER
HITS BACKSays It Is Regrettable that the City Marshal Defends Things of Which He Complains

To the people of Portsmouth: I beg to call your attention to the public letter of the City Marshal which emphasizes the situation in this city and also tends to confirm a suspicion of long standing that this official is not subordinated to the Police Commissioners.

On November 14, 1912, I sent to the chairman of the Police Commissioners an official letter, a copy of which is as follows:

City of Portsmouth, N. H., Mayor's Office.
Nov. 14, 1912.
To the Board of Police Commissioners and City Marshal, Portsmouth, N. H. Gentlemen—I call to your attention the fact that houses of ill repute are and for a long time past have been openly maintained in this city.

I call your attention to the fact that intoxicating liquor is sold in this city illegally in many places.

I call your attention to the very common reports and rumors that gambling places exist in the very heart of the city.

Inasmuch as control of these matters rests with you, as Mayor of the city I call upon you to close forthwith and permanently keep closed all houses of ill repute in this city; to close forthwith and keep closed all places where intoxicating liquor is sold illegally; to at once cause a thorough investigation to be made of gambling rumors, and if they are found to be true to cause such places to be permanently closed.

(Signed) DANIEL W. BADGER, Mayor.

It was not my intention or desire to make public this matter and whatever publicity was given to it up to now did not come from me.

I have received no official or other acknowledgment of this letter from the Police Commissioners.

I believe that the existence of the things mentioned in my letter are a distinct menace to the community and it is regrettable that the City Marshal appears to defend the things of which I complain and make comparisons between them and proprietors of our drug stores, garages and the like.

Personal abuse of me will not meet the issue. My official letter to the Police Commissioners and City Marshal is the answer to all attacks.

DANIEL W. BADGER, Mayor.

AN OLD TAX BILL.

Winfield S. Lord has, in his possession an old time tax bill, bearing the date of 1856, showing that Ichabod Philpot of Rollinsford paid to Collector George W. Roberts his poll tax amounting to $6.25. The receipt was printed by the Dover Gazette Power Press. Mr. Lord highly prizes the old time relic.

ELECTRIC CAR SERVICE WAS
DISCONTINUEDMischievous Work on Bartlett Street Causes Trouble for Street Railroad.

Today the officials of the Portsmouth Electric railway and the police are in a hunt for the parties who put the Christian Shore loop of the road out of commission on Friday night. The job was done on Bartlett street near the engine house of Steamer 1, where the section crew have been making repairs to the roadbed.

Whether the parties were after firewood or bent on mischief remains to be solved, but whichever it was, it is certainly dangerous work for those who undertook it. At the point mentioned a half dozen or more ties were removed from the roadbed by pulling out the spikes with an improvised bar. This left one rail on each side of the track hanging by the joint connections, as the section crew had previously dug out the dirt to make ready for new ties.

The matter was discovered by Molorman Jenness and Conductor Sterling of the 9.05 p. m. car from Market square, who were obliged to discontinue the round trip and come back via North End. The remainder of the schedule for the night was annulled till repairs could be made this morning.

Today Officer Doherty arrested four boys thought to be connected with the case and other arrests are expected this afternoon. The boys claim they are entirely innocent of the affair.

THE WORK IS COMMENCEDExpected That Electric Road to Greenland Will Be Ready in Two Weeks.

The electric railway from the Plains to Greenland should be in operation within the next two weeks.

Today the work of rebuilding the same began at the Plains, under the supervision of Asst. Roadmaster, C. W. Lewis of this city, who informs the Herald that he will push his part of the work every minute.

The old rails are to be put back with nearly all new ties, and the roadbed built up in several places where it has been in a bad condition for years. A crew of seventy men are to carry on the work and engineer Lewis expects to complete his end of the job in about a week. The bondings for the rail joints were ordered today and it will probably take another week for the electrical department of the Boston & Maine to install the same.

Specialty Manufacturers Paid
Tribute at Their Chicago
Banquet.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Three hundred members of the American Specialty Manufacturers' association at a banquet here last night stood with bowed heads while "Auld Lang Syne" was played in tribute to the memory of the late James S. Sherman, vice president of the United States, who belonged to the organization.

As the music ceased the toastmaster, John H. Lee, prayed "Oh, God, receive unto thyself our brother, 'Sunny Jim,' and once again the orchestra played softly while the banqueters sang in low voices the words of the song. The association is holding its annual convention here.

ETTOR CASE
NEARING ENDDefendant Wants to Speak and His Attorneys May Permit Him to Address the Jurors

Salem, Mass., Nov. 22.—More delay in bringing to an end the trial of Ettore, leader of the strike, who testified at length in his own behalf, renewed his request to be allowed to address the jury. If his attorneys permit him to carry out this intention Ettore will be given a chance to speak following the court's charge to the jury. In this event the jury will not take the case for deliberation until Monday.

Again late today the defendant, Ettore, leader of the strike, who testified at length in his own behalf, renewed his request to be allowed to address the jury. If his attorneys permit him to carry out this intention Ettore will be given a chance to speak following the court's charge to the jury. In this event the jury will not take the case for deliberation until Monday.

Extra police are necessary about the court house today to handle the crowds which sought admission to the trial. During the noon recess the doors had to be closed, and when the court room was filled disappointed hundreds were turned away. Throughout the afternoon and until the prisoners were taken away to the jail tonight sympathizers loitered about the streets, eager to get a glimpse of the defendants. Groups of them cheered as the prisoners were driven by.

In his argument the district attorney dwelt chiefly on Caruso's connection with the case. He attacked the defendant's alibi and reviewed the testimony of the commonwealth's witnesses who said that Caruso participated in the riot.

These witnesses, he said, must be regarded as perjurers by the jury, if Caruso's alibi is believed.

Speaking of illegal assembly the district attorney declared that the highways could not be used by one set in a community to carry on a warfare against another set.

"If, in an illegal assembly," he said "officers of the law do not do all that in their judgment is necessary to disperse it, they do not do their duty. If in a tumultuous assembly hot blood arises and causes someone to shoot, that is a consequence of the illegal assembly. Such an assembly must anticipate resistance from the police.

"If the officers use their clubs, we gave them the clubs to use. We pay for the clubs and expect them to use them when necessary. Otherwise we would have no law and would be governed by the mob. An officer, in dispersing a mob, cannot use parlor manners. He must act in a vigorous manner."

Relating to the intimation by the defense that Anna Lopizzo was shot by Officer Benoit's revolver, Mr. Attwill analyzed the evidence as showing on the word of the doctors at the hospital that Benoit's revolver had not been discharged when he was brought there "tumbled from the scene of the riot. He also argued that the evidence showed conclusively that the bullet taken from Anna Lopizzo's body was too large for Benoit's revolver.

"The fact that the shot that killed the woman could not have been fired from an American-made revolver," Mr. Attwill said, "proves beyond peradventure of doubt that Officer Benoit did not fire the fatal shot."

The evidence, he argued, showed that on the night of the killing a crowd of men, acting concertedly, went from Common street to Union and Garden streets, "went upon an unlawful purpose."

"If we have proved," he said, "that the defendant, Caruso, was in that crowd, he is guilty as the man who pulled the trigger of the revolver. In this case all we have to do to establish the murder is to show that someone in that crowd discharged the pistol which killed Anna Lopizzo."

The district attorney reviewed the evidence of LaCourt, the detective who was with Caruso when he was arrested. LaCourt testified that Caruso admitted to him that he stabbed Policeman Benoit. He also recalled the testimony of Thomas Kanada, who said he saw Caruso do the stabbing, and the testimony of Benoit and other officers who saw Caruso in the crowd the night of the riot. The evidence, he declared, shattered the defendant's alibi completely.

DEFENSE GAVE A SURPRISE

Records of Tramps Death Produced at Hackett Trial

Augusta, Me., Nov. 22—The defense provided a surprise early in the afternoon session of the Hackett murder trial today when it presented the Lincoln town clerk and put into the records the date of the death of William Hurd at Lincoln in 1906. The matter was allowed to drop at that point.

Shortly after Hurd's death by a self-inflicted bullet wound a confession that he had something to do with the murder of Mattie Hackett for which Mrs. Elele Raymond has been on trial since Tuesday, was printed in the newspapers and afterward denied. It was generally understood that this was the confession to which attorney Frank A. Marney alluded today when he opened for the defense.

The three tramps were seen by him on the Hackett road one mile from the Hackett farmhouse, at 5.30 p. m. on the night of the murder was the testimony furnished by Everett Decker, of Portland, who at the time was 13 years of age. He was walking with a younger brother.

In an effort to explain the odor of burning leather, which Mrs. Viola Folsom, testified for the state was noticed the morning after the killing of Mattie Hackett, when Mrs. Raymond is alleged to have burned a pair of tan shoes and, sold to have been worn previously by her, the defense introduced Foxwell B. Sedgley. He owned the buildings in which the Raymonds lived. He told the court that in a nearby building there was a cobbler's shop and that it was customary for the proprietor to burn his leather scraps every morning. The witness also testified he saw a woman under the apple trees in the rear of the Raymond house about 8 p. m. close to the time of the murder, and at the time Mrs. Raymond claims she was sitting there. He did not undertake to identify the woman.

Charles E. Hankerson a neighbor of the Hacketts, testified the Hackett girl's father had told him he saw a man jump over the wall, and run down through the field when he first reached his daughter's side, and that on another occasion it was a woman who leaped the wall and made her escape. He was put through a grilling cross examination but held to his testimony.

Charles C. Beane, whose home is on the Nickerson road, saw a woman pass about 7.30 o'clock in the evening of the murder going up the hill toward the Hackett house. She was bent over and walking rapidly. He was only 12 or 15 feet away, he did not recognize her as anyone he knew. He estimated her height as 5 feet 1 or 2 inches. Mr. Beane also testified that tracks in the rear of the building were of a No. 6 or 6 1/2 shoe.

The defense attempted to show by the evidence of Mrs. John M. Sylvester for whom Mrs. Raymond worked in a woolen mill at Turner, that there was no occasion for her to learn to tie the weaver's knot which had been suggested as the knot tied in the cord around the victim's neck. Attorney general Pattangall, however, brought out in cross examination, that both of the respondent's parents were weavers.

Experts Pick Growther of Brown as Best Quarterback of the Season

Providence, R. I., Nov. 23—With the end of the football season in sight the experts are now beginning to select the men for their All Americans. According to many eastern experts George Growther of Brown will be awarded quarterback position on the mythical team. In the open field running the kid, as he is termed, by his teammates is easily a rival of Sprackling, last year's star in the position whose place he is filling. His work was the feature of the Harvard game. With little or no support against Harvard, Growther circled the ends time again for spectacular gains, and ran back punts through a field of crimson tacklers. Occasionally sought the center of the line, winning his way through for several yards. He also played a grand game against Yale. On the defense Growther is a sure tackler. He has not missed a possible tackle this year and has several difficult chances to his credit. Growther weighs only 14 pounds and is often handled very roughly by his heavy tacklers, but he is game to the last and one of the hardest fighters seen on the gridiron this season.

OBITUARY

Hiram Jones.

Hiram Jones died at Wakefield, N. H., on Friday evening aged 80 years and 6 months. He was the son of John and Rhoda Whitman Jones and had always resided in the town, living in the house where he was born. As a citizen he was highly respected by the townspeople. In 1861 he enlisted in Co. D, Sixth New Hampshire Volunteers, for a period of three years. In August, 1862, he was aboard the steamer West Point, when she was sunk by the George Peabody in a collision on the Potomac river. He was obliged to swim for his life and after the accident it was found that he had sustained three broken ribs and other injuries from which he never fully recovered. As the result of his disabilities he was discharged from the service, after having completed only thirteen months of his enlistment. Since the war he has followed farming as an occupation on the old homestead place. He leaves a wife, two sons, Waldo H., a well known shoe manufacturer of Lynn, Harry W. of Greenland, and one daughter, Miss Gertrude Jones, a teacher in North Chelmsford school; also a brother, Josiah N. Jones of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Winthrop Hoyt of Greenland and Mrs. Matilda Hill of Wakefield. He was a devout attendant of the A. S. R. R. church and also a member of Joseph Allen Post, G. A. R., of Wakefield.

A new floor is being laid at the A. S. R. R. power house.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell passed Thursday with her grandson in Hampton, N. H.

The next meeting of the K. F. G. Fancy Work Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Granville Berry on Saturday, Nov. 30.

The five masted schooner, Helen W. Martin which discharged her cargo of coal in Portsmouth ten days ago, has since been lying at anchor in the lower harbor, being unable to secure a charter. The five master George P. Hudson is also in the same predicament.

The schooners Baker Palmer, and Emma Briggs are bound for this port with coal.

There was a large attendance at the speaking contest in the Congregational church on Friday evening. The medal was awarded to Miss Carrie Tobey.

Col. Alfred F. Howard of this city will attend the thirteenth annual meeting of the New Hampshire association of local fire insurance agents, to be held in Manchester next Tuesday.

POSTAL CLERKS GET INCREASE

Large Number Getting $100
More Yearly and Expense Account.

Nearly 1400 railway postal clerks are now working on the new schedule of wages for which the last congress appropriated nearly $1,500,000, to cover the same under the new classification of the men in this branch of the government service.

The clerks are favored with $100 more a year but the increase is made on the record and efficiency of each. Along with this increase the men are allowed an expense account of one dollar a day which they receive after they have been ten hours away from the starting point of their run. To cover this it will cost the government nearly $1,647,000 annually. There was considerable delay by the postoffice department in starting the new schedule, and every man so far benefited the increase will receive the same from the date of October 1.

MISS GARVIN A SUICIDE

Daughter of Former Governor of Rhode Island Drowned Herself.

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 22—The body of Miss Norma Garvin, daughter of former Governor, L. F. C. Garvin, was found early this morning in the waters of the New River by chief of police Burlingame and others who had been dragging the pond all night. The body was discovered not far from shore in deep water, fully dressed, as when the young woman left her home Wednesday evening, bound to attend a lecture in Providence.

The family of the dead woman can ascribe no cause for the act, but realize during the last few weeks she had been more than usual reticent and had taken walks in the evening which was out of the usual. The body was taken to the Garvin residence at Lonsdale.

The body was taken to Lonsdale after being viewed by Medical Examiner Alexander Marshall who pronounced death due to suicide following mental aberration. The body was first seen with the hands raised above the water on New river, by Thomas Glinley, who had gone in search. The police formed the opinion that the young woman had at once gone to the pond and gaining the water's edge by a slide down a steep bank, had waded in and allowed herself to sink. The family now declare that they have noticed unusual signs of despondency of late, due they assert to household cares or perhaps study.

WELL TOLD

By a Portsmouth Resident

The following has more interest for Portsmouth residents than it otherwise would have because Mr. Dunlap is one of ourselves, a citizen of Porsmouth. It is to prove of assistance to but one person in Portsmouth, it will have been well worth the telling.

Albert Dunlap, retired, 36 N. School
St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I suffered from kidney disease, brought on I believe by the hardships I endured while in the army. Some years ago my complaint became much worse and there was a constant pain in the small of my back that made me miserable. It was difficult for me to get about and if I stooped or moved suddenly, sharp twinges darted through my body. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a cure for such troubles, I decided to try them and procured a box at Philbrick's Drug Store. After using about half the contents, I could see an improvement and almost before I realized it, the pains in my back disappeared. I have had no trouble to speak of from my kidneys since. Occasionally when I have taken a slight cold or over-worked, my back has become weak, but at such times a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills have always benefited me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

FORMER PORTSMOUTH
MAN DIVORCED

Lotta Hutchins Myers of Newton Center, Mass., was granted a decree of absolute divorce at the conclusion of a long hearing before Judge Orr of Read, from Malcolm Hubert Myers on the ground of desertion and resumed her maiden name of Lotta Hooker.

She testified that they were married in Providence on April 27, 1907.
The troubles between them began over money matters, she being compelled to pay many of his debts. He was a mechanical engineer with the motor boat manufacturers, Charles J. Jaeger & Co. of Boston, he graduated from Dartmouth in 1906 and was of an old Massachusetts family of Cape Cod. His father, Willis G.
Myers is a wealthy mining promoter
in the Exchange Building, Boston, formerly of this city.

On January 2 last year, Mrs. Myers alleged her husband came home and remarked that he had lost his pos-sion and could not support her. He packed his trunk and went away,
and she has never seen him since.

WAS SHOT FOR A FOX

Lancaster, N. H., Nov. 22.—Henry Gilman of Lynn, Mass., was accidentally shot and killed by Joseph Sutton on the Granby road, Guildhall, last night about 6 o'clock.

The two men were hunting together, Gilman walking up the highway near the Ezra Deering place with a couple of fox skins under his arm, while Masure was in the woods nearby. Seeing the fox skins in the dark, he thought he had sighted a fox and fired. The shot took effect in Gilman's body inflicting injuries from which he died a short time later, before medical aid could be summoned.

The shooting is being investigated
by the selectmen.

PEN PICTURE OF CY.

Friends of the Tall Pine Express Sorrow in His Political Downfall.

Friends of Congressman Sulloway in Washington are enjoying the pen picture of New Hampshire's "Tall Pine of the Merrimack" which recently appeared in the editorial columns of a leading New York daily: "Looking over the list of the sixty-third Congress and comparing it with that of the present house we see too many gaps in the ranks of old friends, too many famous or familiar figures doomed to disappear for a season or for good, if not their country's. Wit, experience, eloquence, knowledge of parliamentary procedure some shing and many respectable talents, have been displaced, but we for these do we make moan. Merely intellectual distinction is not uncommon, even in Congress and long service and its laurels may come to some of the successors of these followers; but who shall climb to that heavenly height from which Hon. Adams Cyrus Sulloway of the first New Hampshire district has overhung nine congresses? A beacon of pension seekers, a tour of ancient Republicanism a head among the stars for nearly twenty years, the Hon. Cy.
Sulloway has been mistaken for the other Washington monument by tourists. Birds nested in his martial haired; the telephone ran up from the speakers desk to his cloudy summit yet was he always ready to bow low and shake hands with New Hampshire visitors in the gallery. A tower is fallen a mountain sunk;
alack for Cyrus!"

"FOR PORTSMOUTH AND PORTSMOUTH'S INTERESTS."

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, November 23, 1912.

The New York Tribune says the "mimeograph case" decided by the Supreme court last year and the "bathtub trust" case decided by the Supreme court yesterday together tell what the holder of a patent may do to restrain trade and what he may not. In the former case it was held that the patentee of the mimeograph might require buyers of his device to use with it a certain kind of ink made by himself. To use another kind of ink was declared to be an infringement of his patent. In the second case it was held that the patentee of a tool used in manufacturing enamel bathroom fixtures could not extend his patent to cover the sale price or conditions of sale of articles made with that tool. The distinction seems to be that the right conferred upon a patent holder, while very broad, does not extend beyond the article patented. Monopolistic practices with regard to it, even though they seem to the public unjust and unreasonable, are sustained. Monopolistic practices with regard to things made with it are without warrant and unlawful.

The Cincinnati Times-Star remarks that the idle boy is the father of the shiftless, unsuccessful man, according to all authorities. While subscribing to the correctness of this view, it is not necessary, however, to go quite as far as a specialist of the United States bureau of education goes when he declares that the schoolboy should never be permitted in his waking moments to be idle. The boy who fritters away his time and who, upon suspending work, does not take up with equal zeal the important duty of play is forming a bad habit that will work to his great disadvantage later on. But it is hardly fair to deny to the growing lad the right to enjoy those occasional periods of complete relaxation which, it is agreed, are so beneficial to his elders. He should not be kept going at high speed all the time. To compel him either to work or to play during every waking moment is to encourage another bad habit and one which may land him in a sanitarium by the time he reaches manhood's estate.

The Chicago Record-Herald states that a league, it is announced, has been formed against "the current use of blasphemous, profane and obscene language in public places." Its object is to obtain enforcement of the law against users of such language and to do anything else that may be necessary to check an evil in our public conduct. Too many Americans are addicted to foul and vulgar speech. Returning travelers and visitors from foreign shores notice an offensive profusion of such language as soon as the home port is reached. It has no parallel in Europe and no proper place here. Perhaps it exists because of the greater nervous strain that is on Americans; perhaps it is a result of freedom from some of the restraints on the individual that exist in an older country. Whatever its cause, its results are bad. It is easy, of course, and dangerous to go to extremes in suppressing profane and indecent language. But toward real and sensible suppression every decent American ought to be willing to lend a helping hand.

The New York World says the miners' strike in the anthracite region last spring closed the mines for two months. A slight increase in pay was secured by the men, and the coal-railroad companies advanced the price of coal 25 cents a ton, much more than repaying themselves for the increased pay of the men. No shortage of coal threatened at the time, because the operators were able to draw on their reserve stocks, which they had provided for just such an emergency. They announced that no shortage would result, and now the public is made to feel through its pocket that a shortage does exist and that it must submit to fresh extortion or prepare to go cold. It only knows that in a closely controlled industry the consumers always get the worst of the bargain.

The Boston Transcript says there are millions of people waiting to see what the newly chosen President will do after he assumes the executive authority of the nation the 4th of next March. There are perhaps almost as many millions hardly less interested to know what will be the social life of the presidential mansion after the new occupants are installed. That it will be of a character to command public approval and very likely admiration there are few to doubt, and that is a feature of an administration which does not always receive the recognition and appreciation it deserves. There have been few instances when the ladies of the White House have not risen to the demands of the position; fewer still when they have not been found worthy of the distinction which they were called upon to share.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer remarks that in Japan they have an Order of the Chrysanthemum, established by the mikado and bestowed as a mark of special imperial favor upon sovereigns and statesmen of high rank. In the United States the order of the chrysanthemum is as wide open as democracy itself. It is made up of flower lovers who recognize neither rank nor pomp nor power.

All indications point to William Jennings Bryan trying to imitate one Theodore Roosevelt as a dictator.

Taking the Winter Open Air Cure For Tuberculosis on a City Roof.

The Red Cross stamps, forerunners of the Christmas season, when the movement which they typify receives its most general support, have made their appearance. The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis announces at the same time that its educational work is being spread with most encouraging results. The photograph shows a pretty patient receiving the benefits of pure air during zero weather while still being cured for at home. Stamps were first used to get money for the anti-tuberculosis crusade in Norway and Sweden in 1904.

The Debate

We argued from the break of day
Until the noontide sun grew warm,
We argued when the skies were gay,
We argued 'mongst the threats of storm.
The tariff was a favorite theme;
The referendum would come next;
And personalities extreme
Seemed to arise from any text.

How soon our pleasures we forget
As time moves by with pictures new;
How soon the various things that fret
Existence here must vanish too.
When various booms are quite forgot
And stifled is the election shout,
We'll go our ways and wonder what
The argument was all about.
—Washington Star.

ELECTION FRAUDS.

Juggling of Amendment Vote in Louisiana Before the Grand Jury.

New Orleans, Nov. 22.—Discovery of the alleged miscounting of votes on a constitutional amendment permitting women to hold office in Louisiana, has resulted in a general investigation by the Orleans parish grand jury. As a sequel to the examination of the ballot boxes, seventy election officers have been indicted. The box in one river front precinct upon being counted, showed 22 for and 64 against the amendment, nearly half of the voters not marking their ballots. The tally sheets for this precinct showed six votes for and 175 against the amendment. It is said that nineteen other proposed amendments received like treatment. All documents and ballot boxes have been ordered sealed pending completion of the jury's investigation.

LITTLE JOURNEYS INTO THE FASHION LAND

The long straight line in dresses crosses the threshold of the autumn season with the greatest confidence. The straight silhouette will go its way during the coming season with no interference of panoply of voluminous pleats, in spite of all that may be said to the contrary. Evening dresses and house gowns, it is true, will be given apparent width by folds and draperies, but with materials of the simplest character so that no additional fullness really appears. Of course the dress of straight line is not the ridiculous skirt it was when first introduced. Sufficient room for walking purposes is given to every dress of this character by pleats at the side which are not apparent to the onlooker, and the skirts themselves are actually wide enough for good strides without the pleats.

KITCHENETTES

A little lemon juice rubbed on tarnished faucets will easily and quickly brighten them.

To preserve the color of green vegetables put them on to cook in boiling water into which a pinch of salt has been dropped.

Rust can be removed from steel by covering it with sweet oil for a day then rub it with a lump of fresh lime and polish in the ordinary way.

To get best results quickly in making French dressing put the oil, vinegar and salt in a bottle, shake the vinegar a little at a time, shaking vigorously, and a fine emulsion is soon obtained.

If silver is to be stored away for some time, pack it with dry flour; it will remain untarnished.

Broiled tomatoes are delicious. Cut tomatoes in thick slices and broil over a hot fire, butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Pickled cauliflower is so good that every housewife ought to have some put away for a rainy day. It is good too, on bright days, first, last, and all the time.

Try stuffing tomatoes that are to be baked with corn fresh cut from the raw, roasting ears. A generous piece of butter should be added to each tomato. Corn without plenty of butter is like a stock company with the leading man out of the cast.

Perkins, hull division, secretary and treasurer; Charles Prince, machinery division, and E. T. Lake, hull division, directors.

It was voted to send a delegates to the national convention in Philadelphia on Dec. 2.

SUIT FOR $100,000.

Breach of Contract Action Against Chicago National Club.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Suit for $100,000 was filed in the circuit court yesterday against the Chicago National League baseball club, the basis of which is breach of contract. The suit was filed by John H. Lee, Edward F. Hamm and a specialty manufacturing concern. The suit is the aftermath of the abandonment of the collapsible cushion seats, which were installed in the park several years ago. It is claimed by the complainants that a contract was entered into with the baseball corporation to supply the seats for ten years and that after seats had been installed for two or three years the contract was done away with. The suit is to recover damages on the contract.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Fine for cuts, burns, bruises. Should be kept in every home. 25 cents and 50 cents.

RAILROAD NOTES

Baggage-master Thomas McDonald, of the Boston and Maine station, is enjoying a gunning trip in the mountains. Bernard Mills is acting in his place.

A baggage car which is regularly taken off the 5.20 p. m. train from Boston on its arrival here jumped the track on the curve leading to the coal docks near Green street on Friday night while being switched. The local wrecking crew was called and worked for nearly three hours to place one pair of trucks back on the iron.

Until further notice the Boston and Albany will operate a full car in American Express company service from South Framingham to Boston to care for floral shipments from Natick and Wellesley.

Notices of the closing of the York Harbor and Beach branch of the Boston and Maine from Dec. 29 to March 23 have been posted by the passenger department.

The Boston and Maine road is delivering hundreds of empty box cars to the Grand Trunk road at White River Junction to be used in the transport of grain from the wheat fields to Boston, and the receipt of the empties is badly congesting in the local yard.

William Downing, night flagman at the Vaughan street crossing, is confined to his home in Greenland by illness. John Devany is substituting in his place.

Engineer Fred A. Colby, for the past 48 years employed on the Boston and Maine railroad and the old Concord railroad, has closed his work and retired to enjoy a richly earned rest for the remainder of his life. During all his workdays he was employed by no other roads than those named and, on his retirement, at his own wish he was placed on the Boston and Maine pension list. Mr. Colby began his railroad work 48 years ago as a fireman on the old Concord road. He came from Weare, his native place, and made Concord his headquarters, when hardly more than a boy. He worked on the Manchester and Lawrence road until 1868. He then was promoted to engineer of a switching engine and for two years ran the work train. This was followed by a job of running the freight train over the Portsmouth and Concord road and then for the next ten years the freight train over the Lawrence road. Mr. Colby was then promoted to the passenger service, running the freight train from Manchester to Boston. For ten years he took out the early Boston train from Manchester.

Total Loss of Incendiary Fire at Putnam, Conn.

Putnam, Conn., Nov. 22.—The total loss resulting from the burning of half a dozen or more buildings in the business center of the city, last night will not exceed $100,000, it is estimated to-day and may be somewhat under that figure. The police say that all the indications are that the fire was set in accordance with a carefully laid plan and search is being made for a man who was seen to leave the lumber yard of the E. M. Wheaton company, where the fire started about the time it was discovered. The firemen were still pouring water on the smoldering ruins this morning.

DELEGATES APPOINTED TO MAKE PEACE

Bulgaria Going On With The Peace Arrangements Despite Turkey.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 22.—Dr. S. Danoff, President of the Bulgarian Parliament, Gen. Savoff, Bulgarian Commander in chief and Gen. Fitch, the chief of staff of the Bulgarian army, have been appointed Bulgarian plenipotentiaries for the negotiation of an armistice between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies. They will proceed immediately to the Tchatalja lines to meet the Turkish plenipotentiaries there.

Now that the delegates have been appointed it is to be expected here that formal negotiations between the Bulgarians and the Turks will begin within 24 hours.

The rejection of the preliminary conditions of the Turks caused little surprise here. The Bulgarians expected to encounter the Turkish propensity for bargaining. Therefore they demanded more than they expected to obtain.

The Balkan allies are prepared to grant reasonable modifications of their terms, as they are confident that Turkey will finally agree to them.

As they do not fear that delay will cause them any serious disadvantage, the Bulgarians are all the more ready to make concessions because they are anxious to settle affairs with Turkey alone and without the intervention of the powers.

It is asserted that the Bulgarian cabinet has given the European powers the assurance that the Bulgarian troops will not enter Constantinople and that this will obviate interference from Europe.

In the meantime military operations will not necessarily be stopped, but it is understood that the Bulgarian troops will remain passive unless attacked by the Turks.

It is though improbable here that active hostilities, with the exception

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently But Thoroughly Cleans Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep

That awful sourness belching of acid and foul gases and pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache means a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach remove the sour, undigested, and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10 cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing too.

IN LONELY CORNERS

Scouts of Science Seek Strange Places of the Earth.

American Institutions Spend Vast Sums In Exploration and Send Their Men to the Darkest Spots of the Globe.

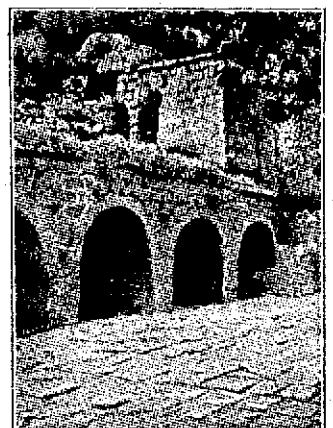

New York.—Up on the fifth or sixth floor of the American Museum of Natural History, just opposite the elevators, is a bulletin board, on which are painted fifty or sixty names of persons actively connected with the institution, all of them well known and many of them famous through out the scientific world. Opposite each name is a little movable block of wood which shows whether the named is in or out.

Inquiry discloses that some of the "outs" are not far away, but that many of them have been absent a long time; that they are in the lonely corners of the earth and that they are not likely to be in for another year or two. These scouts of science come and go at long intervals, but there are so many of them connected with the museum that every month or so some one marks his departure or arrival on the board.

As a matter of fact such institutions as the American Museum of Natural History, the Field Museum in Chicago, the National Museum at Washington, and various European institutions are doing the largest share of the geographic exploration of the earth just at present. The plan that each follows is usually the same.

First they send out one man alone or two together, to penetrate some remote region about which nothing is known. This is really a scientific scouting party. The instructions are to move as quickly as possible, but to make a thorough survey of the scientific possibilities of the country. When the scouts come back and report then a large expedition is fitted out, arrangements being made for it to stay in the field several years. The scouts do not accompany this expedition. They are off on another reconnaissance in some other distant part of the world.

Within the last year or so, for instance, the Museum of Natural History sent E. O. Hovey to the West Indies and thence to the Chiapas district of Mexico to study volcanoes. It sent Henry B. Crampton on three expeditions to Tahiti and the South Sea Islands, and later to British Guiana and Mount Roraima. Frank M. Chapman has covered more than 65,000 miles in collecting materials for the museum bird groups, he returned from Colombia recently.

Just before Prof. Andrews started on his scouting expedition after the Korean tiger, the writer asked him what he feared most in venturing into a totally unknown, unexplored region. Was it fever, or accident or hostile natives, or all those things combined?

"The only thing I ever worry about," replied Prof. Andrews, "is whether I will get enough to eat or not. On an expedition where you are traveling alone with just the smallest number of servants and going into a region that you know nothing about, you can take only a limited amount of food. For the rest you have to rely on the country.

"If you can't kill enough game or catch enough fish, or find food in some way, you're going to starve. If you have plenty to eat, you needn't worry about anything else. Broken legs, sickness, hostile natives and so on will come your way if it's down in the books that they're going to. But, no matter what else happens, you absolutely must have plenty of grub. If you don't, then you've got something big to worry about."

But whether a scout of science helps the staggering dogs to draw the sledges over snowy wastes or whether he cuts his way through the jungles of Java, the Moluccas or the Carolines he is always meeting some other white man. Stefanansson and Anderson encountered lone men of the Royal Mounted Police north of the most northerly forts of the Hudson's Bay company.

So it is that on every world end steamer they are likely to find some one they know or who knows some one they have met. Therefore, long journeys are not so lonely as they seem. The first railroad train which was operated by the Cumberland Valley Railroad company, Mrs. Sipe said, caused much excitement in Carlisle, as the trial trip was made on July 4, 1857, the train making a trip of about two and a half miles.

PROUD OF NATIVE COUNTRY

Visitor From Costa Rica Extols Conditions He Says Are Prevailing In That Country.

Baltimore.—"Though small and as yet in the infancy of its development, Costa Rica is thoroughly progressive," said Dr. Vincent Castro of San Jose, Costa Rica, who is perhaps the leading surgeon of that Central American republic. "Our present chief executive, Lic don Ricardo Jimenez, is one of the ablest statesmen of this generation, a lawyer of profound attainments, and were he a resident of this powerful northern nation he would be esteemed worthy to hold the highest office in the gift of the people.

"At this time we choose our presidents for a four-year term in an indirect way, through electors chosen for that purpose, but two years from now we shall discard this system and all future presidents will be chosen by direct popular ballot.

"All male Costa Ricans of voting age are given the suffrage, the sole qualification being the ability to read and write. There is no rancor or bitterness in our election contests and the faction that is beaten acquiesces cheerfully in the verdict of the polls. Our presidents have an extraordinary appointive power, and they show their magnanimity by naming their political enemies for some of the highest offices under the government.

"The government, as I said before is as stable as any of the big powers and its security has a firm basis in the enlightenment of the people. It owns and operates a railway from San Jose the capital, to Punta Arenas, on the Pacific ocean, which, contrary to most state-owned lines, is a financial success. Our monetary system is excellent, being on a gold basis. The unit of value is the colon, which rarely goes below 45 cents in United States money. A coin worth 90 cents, or two colons, is gold, the smaller coin being silver; and besides that the banks issue paper currency that, being redeemable in gold, is always good. No notes are issued by our government.

"The coffee trade remains a heavy source of revenue. Besides these items, we have all kinds of precious minerals, including a number of good paying gold mines and virgin forests of mahogany and other ornamental woods, only a fraction of which has been cut for exportation.

"Outside of a few thousand blacks from Jamaica, who work for the banana company, and approximately 5,000 Guatuscos—native Indians living in a remote district—the population of Costa Rica is of the original Spanish stock, the racial strain having kept its ancient purity. Ours is essentially a white man's country, as our people, with rare exceptions, decline intermarriage with those of inferior grade, and hence we have been able to evolve and maintain a creditable civilization. In proportion Costa Rica spends more for education than any of the Latin-American governments, our schools costing more than any other single item in the national budget. Education is compulsory and 95 per cent of the children receive free instruction in the primary and secondary schools."

CELEBRATES 100TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Samuel Sipe, of Carlisle, Pa., Attends Her Long Life to Temperance in All Things.

Carlisle, Pa.—Entertaining friends and acquaintances here recently, Mrs. Samuel Sipe of Carlisle, a girl friend of "Molly Pitcher," the heroine of Monmouth, celebrated her one hundredth birthday. Mrs. Sipe was born in Switzerland October 5, 1812, and came to this country when she was six years old. She crossed the ocean in a sailing vessel, which took about six weeks to make the trip, landing in Philadelphia, where she lived one year before coming to Carlisle. Mrs. Sipe lived here ninety-three years ago.

Retaining all her faculties with the exception of her sight, which is slowly failing, Mrs. Sipe today is in good health. She said she expected to live several years longer. When told that a few friends were coming to see her she exclaimed:

"What for? I'm no curiosity. I'm only an ordinary human being."

Mrs. Sipe attributes her long life and good health to temperance in all things, especially in eating.

Mrs. Sipe well remembers "Molly Pitcher," has talked with her often, bearing her tell of the battle of Monmouth and the good treatment she received at the hands of the soldiers.

"It took us about a week to go from Philadelphia to Carlisle," said the centenarian, "as we travelled by stage coach, and the roads were not very good in those times."

The first railroad train which was operated by the Cumberland Valley Railroad company, Mrs. Sipe said, caused much excitement in Carlisle, as the trial trip was made on July 4, 1857, the train making a trip of about two and a half miles.

FINE IRISH HIGHWAY

Is That Constructed Through the Wicklow Mountains.

Built by Lord Cornwallis After the Suppression of the Rebellion of 1798. It Passes Through Remarkably Pretty Country.

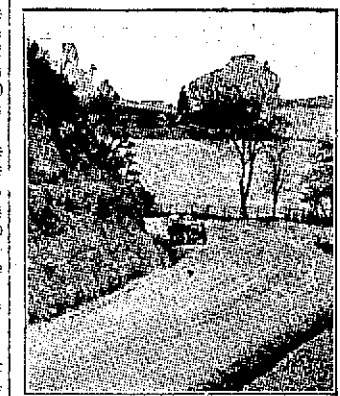

Dublin.—There is a wonderful Irish road which if it existed almost anywhere else would be far more familiar to tourists than it now is. Motorists are beginning to find it, however, and before long "The Irish Simplon" will be as famous as it deserves to be, for the grandeur of the scenery through which it passes is hardly surpassed in the British Isles.

Every schoolboy has read of the roads constructed by Marshal Wade to facilitate the pacification of the highlands of Scotland after the Jacobite rising of 1745, says the English Queen. Wade employed 500 soldiers in the work, who received sixpence a day extra pay and whom he facetiously termed his highwaymen. Few if any histories, however, record the fact that similar works were undertaken in Ireland in connection with the suppression of the rebellion of 1798. The most remarkable of these Irish military roads traverses the central line of the Wicklow mountains.

Until the close of the eighteenth century there were only three passes, Wicklow gap, Sally gap and Glenmalur, by which the retreats of the great Wicklow chain could be approached, and each was almost impassable. After defeat in the open field the rebels of '98 retreated to these wild fastnesses, where for several months they defied the efforts of the government to dislodge them.

Sovexatious and formidable did this mountain warfare become that the idea of taking a leaf out of Marshal Wade's book suggested itself to the lord lieutenant, Lord Cornwallis. He ordered the construction of what is known as "The Great Military Road" in order to lay open the most inaccessible tracks. As it was deemed expedient in station troops at certain strategic points four extensive barracks were erected upon the road.

The main road begins four miles south of Dublin and terminates in the southwest of the County Wicklow. The distance between the two extremities as the crow flies is about 30 miles, but owing to the spiral windings round the contours of the mountains the total distance traversed is much greater. In addition there are branch roads running up minor valleys and circling hills which sheltered outlaws and desperadoes.

This fine work was executed between the years 1799 and 1801 by regiments of Highland militia. With the exception of the level in one valley called Glenmacness the engineer was not enabled to take advantage of a single vale. As a rule the glens in these mountains run from east to west, while the direction of the road is from north to south, hence the latter keeps for nearly the whole distance a solitary mountain course at the height of 1,000 or 1,700 feet above the sea and but seldom descends to any of the valleys.

The road was most skilfully engineered as regards gradients in order to render it passable for artillery. There are but few parts of it which are not rideable by the cyclist mounted on a machine equipped with three speeds. That the work was effected in the most durable manner is clear from the fact that although very little has been spent on maintenance during the last half century, the road still presents through bogs and morasses a smooth and level surface and a substratum perfectly strong and well rounded.

MULES ON A FRISCO RAMPAGE

Animals Break from Corral, Devastate Flower Gardens and Cause Panic.

San Francisco.—One hundred and thirty-eight head of "Missouri's finest" mules, just detrained upon their arrival from St. Louis for use at the Presidio, the local United States army post, broke from their corral, devastated flower gardens, struck panic to the hearts of civilians and police who attempted to round them up and otherwise enjoyed the freedom of the city for nearly twenty-four hours.

A detachment of cavalry finally rounded up 137 of the mules, but one is still missing, along with several hundred dollars' worth of flowers, vegetables and garden fences.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS AS ACTORS

The Assembly Hall at the High School was the scene of a large gathering on Friday evening to hear the presentation of "The Private Tutor," given by the members of the senior class for the benefit of the Athletic Association.

The parts were all taken by the students and their work showed faithful study and careful coaching. Every character was well taken and they received very complimentary applause from the audience.

The members of the class acted as ushers and in general assisted in making it a great success.

The cast of characters were: Fred Spenser who believes that experience is the best teacher.

Raymond Fullam George Carothers, his chum, who also seeks experience. Roy McDonald, Mr. Spenser, his father, who owns an oil well. Ellsworth Thayer, a detective, his uncle, the leader of a little German band. Harold Wendell, Richard, servant at the Spencers'. PORTSMOUTH ROUTE

To Be Electrified—B. & M. Start Work at Somerville and Lynn.

Work of electrifying the Boston and Maine's Portland division has really begun. At East Somerville, a survey party has started in to work pole locations, distances from the track centers to property lines and to locate private real estate holdings. The surveyors will continue working east, through Everett, Chelsea, and Revere down through Lynn.

Another party of surveyors started yesterday morning at Swampscott branch station, where the Marblehead tracks diverge from the main line, to run base lines for the same purpose, electrification, and working west. When the bases are obtained, the whole scheme will be worked out by the engineers at headquarters in Boston.

It is the intention, as already stated by Vice President Byrnes, to electrify the whole line of the Portland division (Portsmouth route), from Boston to Beverly. These surveys are the preliminaries. Within five years, it is anticipated that the high speed trains will be running smoothly and noiselessly permitting neither cinder nor spark, over the high grade through Lynn, on the four-track construction.

You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, falling memory and lame back, wrought on by excesses, unnatural drains or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any doubt help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man, to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, Spot-Touching remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4734 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—now I send it entirely free.

INVESTIGATING COAL SITUATION HERE

Hugh S. Hanna, a special agent of the Bureau of Labor of the Department of Commerce and Labor, is making an inquiry of the anthracite coal situation in New England, in connection with the investigation called in July by the National House of Representatives, concerning the high price of anthracite. He has interviewed the principal dealers, including President Charles Hamilton of the New England Coal & Coke Co., and is at present engaged in obtaining statistics in the Chamber of Commerce. Later he may see some of the smaller dealers.

Other agents are pursuing inquiries in Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, and other coal cities, an agent is also busy in Manchester, N. H., and Portsmouth. Charles P. New, commissioner of labor is himself investigating in the Pennsylvania region. The report will be submitted to the House when Congress resumes in December.

Another suit has been brought against the citizens of York, Me., which adds more fame to the unlimited entanglements that have piled up in the courts of York County for the past seven years over the York bridge.

The latest suit was brought by Deputy Sheriff Clarkson of Kittery, who served writs on town clerk George F. Plaisted in favor of the following:

E. B. Blaisdell vs inhabitants of York for plans and specifications for new bridge and way across York river. $1,394.71
Ellen M. Welsh vs inhabitants of York for stenography and typewriting on account of bridge transactions. $56.45
John G. Stewart, legal services and expenses on same. $1,614.02
This makes the total of the suits come to the sum of $2,964.92.

Speaking of the matter with reference to the last call of the Sheriff the York Transcript has the following:

"The bridge of sighs" never had anything on our bridge. We don't any more than get rid of one sigh over it before something occurs to make us take a long breath, and wonder if there is any limit to these suits and counter suits. Why, if any tailor in the country had as much to do in the suit line as the inhabitants of York have and during the past six or seven years he would be a retired millionaire by this time. But the inhabitants of this summer resort will not retire, in fact, they are getting so that nothing in connection with the bridge will make them tired, because they have exhausted their energy long ago in a fruitless effort to keep track of the twists and turns in this now famous matter.

Boys have grown to manhood, girls have grown to handsome women, presidents have been elected wars fought, and the hall floors in the Realty building washed, since the first suit was filed and still the matter hangs fire. It is within the recollection of some when the first suit started but we'll bet a cross cut saw against a wheelbarrow that there is no one who can tell how many suits have been started since the original.

B & M LOST COAL TOWER

A spectacular blaze which illuminated the sky for miles around was seen by thousands of people near the top of coal tower 7, on Mystic wharf Charlestown about 7:55 Thursday night. The fire practically destroyed the entire structure, with the four valuable engines boilers, and apparatus. The loss was estimated by an official of the Boston & Maine at $10,000.

TO ADDRESS BOARD OF TRADE
Mr. Alfred L. Cutting who is to talk to the members of the Board of Trade & Merchants Exchange at their November meeting, Monday the 26th, has chosen as his subject "The Human Element in Business."

This subject is one that should be of interest to each individual member of the Association, and it is fortunate that at this time Mr. Cutting could find it convenient to come to Portsmouth and address the Board of Trade.

DECIDEDLY IN SECOND PLACE

Only One Way in Which Mr. Hatchett Was Known, and He Didn't at All Appreciate It.

Hannah Holden Hatchett was known as "the pagan poetess." She had published three books. And she had married one man. The names of her books were "Venus and Adonis," "Pipes of Pan" and "Airs From Arcadia." The name of her husband was Michael Moses Hatchett.

Mrs. Hatchett went to parties. Mr. Hatchett went to business. But once Mrs. Hatchett got Mr. Hatchett to stay away from business and go to a party with her. The party was given by Mrs. Benjamin Bouspart Motley.

Mrs. Motley introduced her guests to Mrs. Hatchett. And to Mr. Hatchett also.

"This is Mrs. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley.

"I am so glad to meet you!" said Mrs. Fiddle. "I have set your 'Ode to Olympus' to sweet, soothing music and have made a lovely little lullaby out of it."

"Dear me!" said Mrs. Hatchett. "This is Mr. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley.

"Yes," said Mr. Hatchett proudly; "you bet!"

"This is Mrs. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley to a second woman.

"I just adore your 'Nectar and Ambrosia,'" said Mrs. Hayco. "I do my own cooking, and while I boll the coffee and fry the eggs, I always chant the refrain!"

"Good gracious!" said Mrs. Hatchett. "This is Mr. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley.

"Mrs. Hatchett's husband?" said Mrs. Hayco.

"Yes," said Mr. Hatchett grimly; "that's me!"

"This is Mrs. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley to a third woman.

"I am simply crazy about your 'Paeon of Praise,'" said Mrs. Rummage. "I have embroidered the first line in yellow chenille on green plush for a mantle drape in my mother-in-law's back parlor."

"Mercy on us!" said Mrs. Hatchett. "This is Mr. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley.

"Mrs. Hatchett's husband?" said Mrs. Rummage.

"Yes," said Mr. Hatchett crossly; "nothing more and nothing less—gosh blame it!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Washing with Stone.
Numerous inquiries have been made at the commercial intelligence department of the board of trade, in Basinghall street, London, E. C. respecting the exhibit of soapstone which arrived a few days ago from the British vice consul at the Russian town of Kerch, in the Crimea. The stone, which is dug out of the ground at a place called Bachi-Sarai, and is known locally as "kheel," is used for all kinds of washing purposes and as an emollient. Or a marbled pale green, and brown appearance, a piece of this mineral substance soaked in water crumbles to a soft paste. It is understood that none of the board's officials has yet risked shaving with the new stone soap, but hand basin tests in washing have been quite successful. On the ground of its comparative cheapness, about a tenth of the price of common soap, several British firms have already become much interested in the commercial possibilities of the curious exhibit.—London Advertiser.

COMMENDS MAYOR BADGER'S EFFORT TO STAMP OUT VICE

Well Known Resident of South End Says He Will Furnish Evidence

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 22. Editor The Herald:

Dear Sir—Please allow me a little space in your paper to say a word in regard to the letter from the City Marshal, which appeared in your paper.

In the first place he states that the Mayor brought the matter of vice and corruption existing in the city to public attention. I would like to ask since when has the Marshal and the police commissioners been the public of Portsmouth? Wasn't it the Marshal himself who made the contents of the Mayor's letter to the commissioners public?

Secondly, the Marshal in his letter calls upon the Mayor to furnish him with evidence and the names of witnesses, etc.

Now I would like to ask every fair-minded citizen of Portsmouth if that is not what the City Marshal is paid for?

The matter of vice and corruption is brought to the Marshal's attention by a leading citizen and the chief magistrate of the city, and the Marshal turns around and asks the Mayor to perform his (the Marshal's) duty, that is, secure evidence, witnesses, etc.

If, as the Marshal next insinuates, the Mayor is "doing this cleaning-up for campaign purposes, I can assure the Mayor one vote he would not otherwise have got, if he makes some effort to curb these illegal joints.

The Marshal next asks the Mayor when he found out that so much corruption existed in the city. Of course, the Mayor, like nine-tenths of the citizens of Portsmouth, has known all along that this vice existed, but it was not his duty to go out and prosecute these cases any more than it was the duty of our bank presidents, ministers or private citizens. This is the sole duty of the Marshal and his officers, and if he doesn't know, as he intimates, that this vice exists, and he is not able to suppress it any more than he has done in the past, he is no more fit to be City Marshal than a five-year-old child.

He says he has seen the city's morals improve and vice grow less prevalent. Now, as a matter of fact, known to about every citizen of Portsmouth, new houses for immoral purposes have been erected, and large additions made to others, within the past five years, and yet he states the law is being enforced.

Let me tell of a case of my own. I telephoned to the Marshal's office and informed those in charge that parties were peddling on our streets without a license. I was told that they were permitted to peddle whatever they raised. The two particular parties I spoke of were peddling pine-apples and sweet potatoes.

Every citizen of Portsmouth knows that there are more of these vice joints in the city than is good for its business prosperity.

Every traveling man or stranger who comes to Portsmouth speaks of the city as the home of the rumshop and houses of ill fame.

Speaking of the fair name of the city, I say it has no fair name when the stranger speaks of it as he always does. Let any resident go out of town anywhere and announce that he is from Portsmouth and the first greeting he gets is, "Oh, yes, the city of beer and rum."

I know of one good manufacturing concern that intended to locate here and refused to come because of the condition of the city.

Portsmouth does not advance and never will as long as the present state of affairs exists. In fact we are not so well off as we were. We haven't the good shoe shop, the machine shop, the foundry, ship yards and mills that we used to have.

The city is going back, even the fishing smacks that used to make this their home port, now go to Gloucester. The captains could not depend on their men after once turning them loose amongst our dives.

Gloucester with its fisheries alone and no license has grown to 25,000 inhabitants, over two and a half times as large as we are.

Now this self-styled enforcer of the law against all offenders further along in his letter admits that drug stores are allowed to keep open for the sale of candy, cigars, soda, ice cream, etc., in violation of the law, but the real candy and ice cream parlors and tobacco stores are not allowed open on Sundays. Consistent, isn't he, this law enforcer? And why the discrimination against the business man who is depending solely on his candy and ice cream business or the tobacco dealer who has only his tobacco.

I have been in business in Portsmouth for the last 25 years and I have seen business go from bad to worse, and I know that a great deal of money that should go to legitimate business concerns for the necessities of life, such as clothing, food and coal, is spent in these immoral, unlicensed joints, which for the welfare of the city should be put out of existence.

Let Mayor Badger close up these dives, if he cannot get the police department to do it, and he will have the thanks and votes of every decent-minded, non-grafting citizen in the city. If Mayor Badger needs evidence or witnesses he is at liberty to call on the writer.

(Signed) FRANK L. WOODS.

Looks for Civil Service

Word comes from the West coast that the employees of the Mare Island yard and other yards are to be placed under civil service rules. The dispatch concerning this matter has the following:

This action is to be taken following the recommendations of the commandants of navy yards who recently considered the question at the Washington conference. Capt. Henry T. Mayo, commandant at Mare Island, recommended the change in his report. The supervisory forces of the yards are to be rated on an efficiency basis as soon as civil service regulations go into effect. Just when this will be done has not been decided, but it will be in the near future.

Commandants of the different yards are now taking up ratings of the supervisory employees, which will soon be sent to the navy department. Navy department officials believe the rating system will greatly increase efficiency. When put into effect there will undoubtedly be a big shakeup in all the yards.

Fixing Up Locomotive.

Yard locomotive No. 2 is in the hands of the boiler-makers for annual test and minor repairs.

Doesn't Apply to Public Works.

The item of Friday relative to the combining of laborers at the yard was incorrect as far as those of the public works are concerned and should have applied only to those in the machinery and hull divisions of the manufacturing department.

Five Discharged in Hull.

Three shipfitters' helpers and two general helpers were discharged today for lack of work.

Plans Perfected.

Plans for the building of a coal plant, paint and carpenter shop for the marine barracks to cost $25,000 have been perfected and the same sent to the department at Washington for approval by the public works department of the yard.

Chaplain for the Yard.

The department has under consideration the orders of a chaplain for this yard and station who is likely to be one of the number now completing a period of sea duty.

NORMAL TIME.

B. & M. Schedule Investigated by the Commerce Commission.

Boston, Nov. 22.—An examination of "normal time" schedules on the Boston and Maine railroad was made today by the interstate commerce commission, which is investigating complaints of New England freight shippers. Shippers have attempted to show that the "normal times" are unusually long.

Samuel E. Miller, inspector of transportation for Boston and Maine, testified that he compiled the loading and routing rules. "On carload shipments," said Mr. Miller, "I reckoned 24 hours for delays at junction points with foreign roads for switching and classifying and twelve hours average delay for each interior break-up yard. I reckoned 10 miles an hour running time for cars in transit in through trains and 6 miles an hour on local or way trains."
